ACADEMIC CALENDAR FOR 2025/2026

I. The academic year 2025/2026 commences on 1 October 2025 and concludes on 30 September 2026, and is organized into two semesters: winter and summer.

II. Each semester comprises 15 working weeks of instruction, representing 30 working weeks per year.

III. During the academic year, students follow and attend teaching activities: lectures, exercises, group and individual consultations, seminars, presentations, and student practice. Student practice is conducted according to the plan for each study programme individually.

IV. The timetable for the delivery of individual teaching activities is determined by a separate schedule, which is adopted and published prior to the commencement of each semester on the University's website and notice board.

V. Colloquial knowledge assessments are organized at times designated for the delivery of teaching activities, in accordance with the instructor's plan for each teaching course, as a rule, the first following completion of 50% of planned activities in each semester and the second following completion of the remaining 50% of planned activities in each semester. Colloquial examination dates may vary within the planned week, namely the week before or the week after the scheduled dates.

VI. When preparing the timetable, care shall be taken to ensure coordination of schedules, such that more than two colloquia or two examinations may not, as a rule, be organized on the same day within one year of studies.

VII. Examination periods are organized during the following terms:

- January-February: from 19 January to 20 February 2026 (two sessions)
- April: from 6 April to 30 April 2026 (one session)
- June-July: from 15 June to 18 July 2026 (two sessions)
- September: from 1 September to 25 September 2026 (two sessions)
- October: from 28 September to 10 October 2026 (one session)

In the April and October examination periods, one examination session is established.

Examination dates are determined by a separate examination schedule.

VIII. At the end of each semester and academic year, validation thereof is performed in the student's record book. Validation of the semester and academic year is mandatory.

IX. Amendments and supplements to the Academic Calendar are made according to the procedure prescribed for its adoption and shall be published no later than 30 days before the dates being modified, and in exceptional cases no later than three days before the date being modified.
